NEW PUBLICATIONS.

BOOKS FOR THE PEOPLE.-Re-lan her of "Stories of Waterloo," "Hector O'Halloran," &c. &c.) Price 25 cents.

The above work is somewhat different from the author's usual vein, being more of a domestic story. Like Dr. Warren, author of "Ten Thousand a Year" who afterward produced that aplendid Sermon "Now and Then," in his more mature years, the lamented author took more soher views of the purposes of life and strove rather to make his fellow creatures better, than to amuse them for the passing bour. No one who has read "Ten Thousand a Year," so full of humor, can ever recognise its mirth-inapiring auther in the sublimely beautiful characters be has traced in the pages of "New and Then." So with the subtor of "Hector O'Halloran." "The Soidler's Daughter" is so unlike the former works of its gifted author that his admirers will scarce recognize it as from the same source. Glifilian, as also the author of "The New Spirit of the Aga," (a very candid and able reviewer.) placed the late Col. Maxwell stine head of the Irish Novelists. "His characters were not caricatured," as has been charged upon Laver and Lover, whose works have been perhaps even more oppular here than Maxwell's. This last work, we learn, was run through the pages of the "Daolin University Magazine" whose educer remarks on terminating its publication:

"These of our readers who have taken as interest in our 'light'."

"Joscelina, or The Soldier's Daughter," is probably the best work which the immented Maxwell ever wrote. Published and for sale, wholesale and retail, by W. F. BURGESS, Dealer in Cheap Publications, m5 it 22 Ann st. N. Y.

1-ON MONDAY.

By William W. Lord. 1 vol. 12mo, bound, 15 cents.

This admirable poem is founded upon the belief that the soul of the Switour, after his Crucifixion, passed to the abode of the Spirit of Men and thence came forth riumphant. It possesses surpassing grandeur and majesty of thought, with much force and beauty of language, and harmony of versification.

TREATISE ON MARINE AND NAVAL ARCHITECTURE:

Or, Theory and Practice Blended in Ship Building.

By John W. Griffiths, Marine and Naval Architect. Illustrated with more than fifty Engravings. 1 vol. 4to. Price $10.

This work is designed to form the connecting link between Selence and Practice, with a view to the elementary instruction of those who have not previously studied the principles of science in modeling and building ships. But while it is designed as the novinace squide, it will be found to contain much information adapted to all branches of marilime enterprise; not only the elementary principles, but all the departments of the science, are distinctly explained and linestrated by plates and diagrams. The subject of masting and sparting of vessels is fully explained in its proper department.

Popularity has not been sought at the expense of science, nor brevity by the sacrifice of useful information and appropriate lillustrations.

To those who desire to possess a work on the theory and practice of ship-building it is not too much to say, that an equal amount of information has never been offered to the mechanical world upon this subject at so small a price.
